The Heart of ECO-TOURISM

Delaware and Raritan Canal State Park / dandrcanal.com
The Six Mile Run Reservoir Site is an oasis of farm fields and forests that provide an essential area for the public to enjoy the splendor of nature. Park includes the Millstone Valley Scenic Byway which offers well-preserved pieces of the of the Colonial, early Dutch and Revolutionary eras.

Duke Farms / dukefarms.org
At Duke Farms, you’ll find almost 1000 acres of land devoted to an ongoing exploration – of native species, preservation and sustainability efforts, and of the area’s natural beauty. Visit for a walk or bike ride through the landscape. Attend a workshop, event or festival. Eat at the award-winning café or support local farmers at the seasonal market. However you choose to spend your stay, experience the outdoors in a fresh, new way.

Scherman Hoffman Wildlife Sanctuary / njaudubon.org
Located in Bernardsville, the Sanctuary serves as the New Jersey Audubon state headquarters. Open to the public and located on 276 acres of woodland, field, and floodplain habitat with miles of trails perfect for family walks.

Somerset County Park Commission Environmental Education Center / somersetcountyparks.org
Located on 500 acres of Lord Stirling Park, the facility features 9 miles of trails, naturalist programs, events, classroom rentals, resource library, and gift shop.

Sourland Mountain Preserve / somersetcountyparks.org
The 6,000-acre Preserve, located in Hillsborough and Montgomery Townships, is New Jersey’s largest county park and extremely rich in natural resources.
